Arguments in Favor of Fall Plowing for Onte and Barley-Directions for Running the Plow so as to Drulu the Soil

It is of great importance to sow bariey and cats early in the spring. A few days difference in the time of sowing often makes all the difference between a good crop and a poor one-and what a difference that is all experienced farmers know. It is not merely the loss of all profit from our labors, but the land is foul with weeds and in poor condition generally. My own land varies considerably in character. Much of it is rolling land, straight straw turned over the edge of the knolls being sandy, while the lower edges of the knolls are more or less clayey, and the valleys between the knoils vary from a dark sand to a sandy loam and a clayey loam. Perhaps these terms do not convey a distinct meaning. All I wish to show is that the soil varies considerably and requires different methods of working. To get part of a field into good condition for oats or barley in the spring requires three or four times the labor required on other parts. On such land as this (say a field that has been in corn the past season, and on which one intends to through a stave near the bottom. Take sow outs in the spring) i find an immense ont the other head and fit in a false botadvantage from fall plowing. As soon as tom with holes thickly bored through it, the corn is cut, and while it is standing in above the fancet. Lay some narin atooks in the field, if i have time I row wooden atrips crosswise over the like to start the plows on the land be-tween the rows of stooks, and finish plowing after the corn and stalks are removed. of cotton wool, then another coarse

On strong land i put three horses on the plow and turn up a good, deep furrow, and leave the subsoil on top, where it is exposed to the ameliorating action of the air and frosts of winter. Such fall down. Straining through a layer of plowed land is cleaner and much more cleanly washed, finely broken charcoal easily propared for spring orops than if or pure sand ts another method. it had not been plowed. In plowing for narrow lands, and by connecting the dead furrows with the necessary ontlots I can get rid of a large quantity of water in the early spring. These narrow lands, by running a gang plow so as to fill up the dead furrows, are easily leveled Acme or other harrow the land can soon to 200 pounds of superphosphates with the barley and oats, and have reason to expect a good orop, and this land after the oats or barley is harvested is in better condition for plowing for wheat than if it had not been well and deeply plowed the fall previous.

In advocating fall plowing what is particularly in my mind is not sod land, bnt iand on which a crop of corn, or potatoes, or beans, or roots had been grown, and which was intended for oats or barley in the spring. Little or nothing was said about plowing sod land in the fall; ou my own farm—of late years, at any rate—I seldom, if ever, plow sod land in the fall, and that not from theoretical reasons only, but because there is not time and because, further, sod land can be plowed in the spring at times when other iand is too wet and sticky to work to advantage.

Renovating Old Meadows. It often happens that old meadows become unprofitable; the grass of meager | weaker than the first, in which you have growth and of inferior quality. When a mendow falls off in productiveness ma farmers suppose that the soll is abie to produce profitable crops. This, says Rnral Home, is in many cases a mistake. There is no question that grass as well as other crops, if cut and removed year after year, will impoverish the soil, but not as fast as is generally supposed. The meager growth is due to the closeness of plants, and these meadows are thickly matted so as to form a compact sod. Now all that is necessary to restore reason it should be frequently examined such a meadow to a state of profitable productiveness—nnless the soil is so far worn as to be the cause of the niproductiveness-is to thin out some of the growth, which is readily done by passing over the moadow with a sharp toothed harrow. By this operation the sod is lacerated, the superfinons grass killied, and as a resnit the remaining plants make a luxn-riant growth. This may be done either in the fall or in the spring.

It is well or even necessary to pass over the meadow with a heavy roller, as the harrowing makes the sod rough, and if this be allowed to remain the crop cannot be cut so low as it might be, or small pieces of sod are sure to get into the hay, and this is certainly not desirable. A judicious application of well rotted barn yard manure applied as a top dressing just after harrowing will greatly increase the productiveness of the meadow, especially if it be old and quite worn. A disc harrow will answer, but a harrow with teeth

Scratches in Horses.

Years ago i had a horse affected by scratches, i tried many recommended remedies without success. Knowing from experience that pine tar would cure chapped hands I applied it to the cracked and sore parts, and only three applications were necessary to effect a complete cure. Since then I have several times applied It with equally good results. it softens the diseased parts and keeps out moisture and dirt. I do not want a better remedy, and were 1 to add anything to it in obstinate cases it would be a very little pulverized blue vitriol.—Cor. Rural New Yorker.

* Standard for Grains. A bill to provide for establishing a uniform standard for wheat, corn, oats, barloy and other grains has been reported and recomended to the national house of representatives by the committee on agriculture. The president of the National Farmers' Alliance is credited with the statement that "a standard for grain is as important as a standard for

New Yorkers Are Afraid of Wires. A new practical application of electricity is an apparatus to light cigars. The machine is connected by a wire with one of the ordinary light currents, and by touching a button a small but bright electric spark is produced, at which one can ignite the ordinary rod raturated with alcohol. One of these apparatus had just been placed upon the cigar counter of a big down town restaurant. Its use was somewhat unfamillar to the habitnes of the place, and I was told to watch them. As various gentlemen finished their innch they sually approached the cigar stand to light their weeds.

In several cases they hesitated to apply the rod to the electric spark even after the process was explained to them, although the handle of the rod was evidentiy composed of hard rubber or some other insulated material. Finally an elderly gentleman approached the ma-chine, and on being told how it worked instated on holding the point of the rod about two inches away from the light, ring as an explanation his disinclina-n to "monkey with electric correnta." by stander had finally to light it for n. This goes to show that the public omewhat afraid of live wires.—New CIDER MAKING.

How to Obtain a Clear and Finaly Flavored Beverage from Good Apples. First see that the apparatus to be used is clean and sweet. The apples may be prepared for expressing the juice, either by squeezing or crushing, as in the old ways of cider making, or by some of the of Superfluous Water.

Joseph Harris has the following to say in American Agriculturist on fall plowwith wood, will excel in quality. There are various forms of screw presses, from which one can be selected to suit the circumstances of the case. The pomace should remain overnight. or at least several hours, in the receiving trough before being pressed. The cheese, as it is called, consists of the pomace confined in press clots, or, more commonly among farmers, a succession of layers, held in place under the screws by cloan each layer in a manner familiar to all rural cider makers. The julce being expressed, it at once becomes important to free it as completely as possible from the particles held in solution. These, by their decomposition, hasten and increase the vinous fermentation, which if not properly treated will be soon followed by the vinegar stage. This process should begin by straining or filtering the juice before fermentation sets in.

A convenient filter may be made from a clean tight barrel, with a fancet row wooden strips crosswise over the false bottom to hold up the coarse cloth first laid over it. On this place a layer cloth, to be followed by three or fonr inches of very clean straw, then cloths and straw alternately until the barrel is three-fourths full when well pressed

If the filtered juice can be put into corn my practice is to plow around the large casks holding three or four barrels field, and thus avoid having dead fur- and standing npright, with open heads, rows. But in plowing in the fall for for a short time until fermentation bespring crops I can, if necessary, make gins it will be much better than to barrel it at once. These casks should be provided with faucets a few inches from the bottom, through which the clear cider can be drawn off, leaving another quite large deposit of fine sediment nndisturbed. The scum on the top should down, and by cross harrowing with an | be skinnied off as occasion requires The cider should then be barreled and be got ready for the drill. I drill in 150 kept in a cool place, as tightly bnnged as the fermentation, which will still continue for a time, will admit. Under the best system of cleunsing it from impnrities, early made cider, unless it can be kept in an ancommonly low temperature, or is treated with chemicals or scalded to kill fermentation, will grow too acid to be agreeable. The later cider making can be deferred the better the cldor will be as a beverage and the ionger it will keep, says The New York World, authority for the foregoing.

Proper Temperature in Seiting Milk. On the question of proper temperature in setting milk Professor Henry reports: Milk set at 40 degs. for eleven honrs threw np all but 44.1 of 1 per cent., while milk at 45 degs. left 2.7 per cent. of butter in the skim milk. Setting at 50 degs, as compared with 45 degs. showed a loss from 8.8 to 10 per cent., and 55 degs, shows that the range of loss is from 15.6 to 30 per cent. over that set at 45 degs.

Dr. Hoskins, of Vermont, says that he regards the Switzer apple as nearest perfection, in quality almost equal to the Fameuse, larger, free from spots, the tree very hardy, and a free and eigeant grower. The prolific sweeting, like some other fruits termed "prolific," is remarkably unproductive.

Roup may generally be traced to want of cleanliness, improper ventilation or undne exposure, and the poultryman who has provided against these causes is reasonably safe against the roup.

An exhibition run of the "carette," a diminntive street car without a track which has been in use in Chicago for several weeks, was given the other after-noon. The "carette" is light and easy in motion, and no jolting or discomfort was felt in riding in it along the part cobblestone paving of Chestnut street. It cannot run on the ordinary street car track, the distance between the wheels being greater than the car track width. It avoids delays or blockades, and stops at the curb to receive or discharge passengers. It seats twenty persons, is drawn by two horses and has a conductor and a driver. It is said to be very popular in Chicago among ladies and ohildren.— Philadelphia Times.

. An Unfinished Story.

If one Springfield baby didn't bave the colic one night recently, it is because grapes agree with some infants. One of the many baby carriages that line the sidewalk while mothers are shopping was pushed against a fruit stand the other afternoon. By leaning over its occupant could just reach the purple clusters in a basket. And then one by one the grapes went down baby's throat, and just as the little one reached for another cluster manner appeared.—Gyringalia hypothesis in Tweive Large Volumes, Which we Offer with a Year's Subscription to this Paper for a Triffs More than Our Regular Subscription Price.

GRAND PREMIUM OFFER! A SET OF THE

Onr Regular Subsoription Price.

Wishing to largely increase the circuiation of this paper during the next six months, we have made arrangements with a New York publishing house whereby we are enabled to offer as a premium to our subscribers a Set of the Works of Charles Dickens, in Twelve Large and Handsome Volumes, with a year's subscription to this paper, for a trifle more than our regular subscription price. Our great offer to subscribers eclipses any ever herelofore made. Charles Dickens was the greatest novelat who swey lived. No author before or sines his time has won the fame that he achieved, and his works are even more popular to-day then during his lifetime. They abound in wit, humor, pathoe, masterly delineation of character, vivid descriptions of places and incidents, thrilling and skillfully wronght piots. Each book is intensely interesting. No home chould be without a set of these great and remarkable works. Not to have read them is to be far behind the age in which we live. The set of Dickens' works which we offer as a premium to our subscribers is handsomely printed from entirely new plates, with new type, The twelve volumes contain the following world-famous works, each one of which is published complete, unchanged, and absolutely unabridged:

linbed complete, unchanged, and absolutely DAVID COPPERFIELD, BARNABY RUDGE AND CHRISTMAS STORIES. OLIVER TWIST AND CREAT EXPEC-MARTIN CHUZZLEWIT, NICHOLAS NICKELBY, TATIONS, THE OLD CURIOSITY SHOP AND THEUNCOMMERCIAL TRAVELER,
A TALE OF TWO CITIES, HARD
TIMES AND THE MYSTERY OF DOMBEY AND SON, BLEAK HOUSE. LITTLE DORRIT,

PICKWICK PAPERS, EDWIN DROOD. The above are without question the most famous nevels that were ever written. For a The above are without question the most famous hovers that were ever written. For a quarter of a century they have been celebrated in every nook and corner of the civilized world. Yet there are thousands of homes in America not yel supplied with a set of Dickens, the usual high cost of the books preventing people in moderate circumstances from enjoying this luxury. But now, owing to the use of modern improved printing, folding and stitching machinery, the extremely low price of white paper, and the great competition in the book traile, we are enabled to offer to our subscribers and readers a set of Dickens' works at a price which all can afford to pay. Every home in the land may now be supplied with a set of the great author's works.
